

DAVID GILMOUR

A dramatic landscape featuring a flock of birds, including crows and magpies, flying out of a wire cage in the foreground. The birds are captured in mid-flight against a backdrop of dark, stormy clouds and a golden field. The overall mood is one of liberation and power.

RATTLE THAT LOCK